IARU Global Cross Disciplinary Tournament (IARU GXT) is a program hosted by IARU member universities. The program has a specified theme, (the theme for 2013 is ‘the Future of Media’) that will be pursued online as a team through preliminary research projects along with lectures/field works held at IARU member universities (for 2013, it will be held at Peking University). The findings will be presented at a symposium. The details of the phases are as follows.

Please refer to the website for details. <http://www.u-tokyo.ac.jp/ja/administration/go-global/program/gxt.html>

-Selection Phase is conducted by all universities and involves selecting a specified number of delegates for the tournament.

-Development Phase follows after the selection by partner universities has been completed. Delegates will be grouped into teams with students with different cultural and academic backgrounds to achieve a dynamic cross-cultural emphasis.

-Residential Phase involves delegates arriving from their respective universities to meet at the host university over a period of 10 days to attend lectures, field work and public symposium.

4. テーマ Theme

In 2013, the theme is ‘the Future of Media’. In cross-university, cross-disciplinary teams, participants will design a 'catalyst for change' addressing a specific issue on the topic. This catalyst could be anything: a computer program, a research proposal, or a short film. Participants will work together over the internet for 5 weeks before coming together at PKU for the Residential Phase.
