

近世 22.7-07-084

The image is a woodblock print design, likely a book cover or a decorative page. It features a central vertical column of large, bold characters, possibly a title or a key phrase. This central column is flanked by two columns of smaller characters and symbols, arranged in a grid-like pattern. The symbols include squares, circles, and various geometric shapes, some containing smaller characters or motifs. The overall style is traditional Japanese woodblock printing, characterized by high contrast and geometric precision. To the right of the main design, there is a vertical title and a signature.
