

Vertical text column on the right side of the page, containing various characters and possibly a title or section header.

Main body of vertical text in the upper section, consisting of multiple columns of handwritten or printed characters.

Main body of vertical text in the lower section, continuing the columns of characters from the upper section.

Vertical text columns on the left side of the upper section, including a prominent large character '奇'.

Vertical text columns on the left side of the lower section, including a prominent large character '狂'.

Text in a decorative frame at the top left, possibly a title or a specific section header.