

Handwritten text in the top section, likely a list of names or entries. The characters are small and densely packed, typical of a traditional Japanese document.

行岡市儀

中村並統

Main body of handwritten text in the middle section, organized into columns. The characters are larger and more legible than in the top section.

千代子...

Main body of handwritten text in the bottom section, continuing the list or entries from the middle section. The text is dense and fills most of the page.